Willard is now taking her ads for the Albuquerque papers from the Estancia News. They could do a whole lot worse. As long as the News gets the free advertising, we shant kick, even if we are misquoted. That's a trick of Willard's anyway.

Every time it gets cloudy in Estancia the farmers talk about building bigger and better houses. When it rains, they look up the automobile catalogues. But when we have a high wind for a day, they dig up their hammers and to hear the anvil chorus, one would think this really was the Willard Valley.

The people of Estancia did the right thing last night in arranging for a Fourth of July celebration. To play the dead one and allow the Fourth to come and go with nothing doing here, compelling our people to seek entertainment elsewhere, is a mistake. Especially is this true, when it is considered that the entertainment given by some of the other places in years past has fallen so far below that advertised. Our people can and will be entertained at home far better than elsewhere, and should be encouraged to seek their entertainment here. This can be done by judicious advertising and giving the people the things advertised.
